

Action! Teacher Video Academic Review References

This list appears as an appendix to the review of the project conducted by Dr Simon Sandberg in April 2008:

Becta (2007) Emerging Technologies for Learning, Vol. 2, Becta

Cunningham and Benedetto (2002) Using Digital Video Tools to Promote Reflexive Practice

Dale et al (2004) 'You can't not go with the technological flow, can you?' Constructing 'ICT' and 'teaching and learning' in Journal of Computer Assisted Learning 20, pp. 456-70

Fletcher (2002) Improving mentoring with action research and digital video technology, Links, University of Bath

Green et.al. (2005) Personalisation and Digital Technologies, NESTA/Futurelab.

Hargreaves (1998) Creative Professionalism: the role of teachers in the knowledge society, Demos

Hargreaves (2003) Education Epidemic: transforming secondary schools through innovation networks, Demos

Hargreaves (2004) The mosaic of learning: schools and teachers for the next century, Demos

Hatcher and Coles (2006) Video and action research: a report on the Teachers' TV pilot project, UCE.

Horne (2001) Classroom assistance: why teachers must transform learning, Demos

Horne et al. (2004) Switched On: How television could turn teachers on to learning, Demos

Hung, Keppell and Jong (2004) Learners as producers: using project based learning to enhance meaningful learning through digital video production, in Atkinson, McBeath, Jonas-Dwyer and Phillips (eds) Beyond the comfort zone: proceedings of the 21st ASCILITE Conference (pp. 428-436)

Leadbeater (2004) Personalisation through participation, Demos

Mason (2002) E-Learning: What have we learnt? in Rust (ed) Improving Student Learning Using Learning Technology 27-34, Oxford Centre for Staff and Learning Development

Powell (2004) Conceptualising and facilitating active learning: teachers' video-stimulated reflective dialogues, paper presented to BERA, Sept. 2004

Robertson and Dale (2007) Aliens in the Classroom 2: When technology meets classroom life, forthcoming in Sutherland, John and Robertson (eds) Improving ICT and London, London: Gateway Books

Shuck and Kearney (2004) Students in the Director's Seat: Teaching and Learning across the School Curriculum with Student-generated Video, Teacher Learning and Development Research Group, <http://www.eddev.uts.edu.au/teachered/research/dvproject/home.html>